Managed Security Awareness Training

According to Gartner, human error accounts for up to 95% of security breaches.
Managed Proofpoint Security Awareness Training offloads the challenge of designing, running & reporting on a security awareness program which engages your end users throughout the year, enabling you to focus on your business. Reduce the burden on in-house IT & non-IT teams by outsourcing Security Awareness Training, meaning that you do not have to recruit and retain highly skilled individuals at a high cost to your business.

An effective Security Awareness program is proven to decrease the overall security risk. Choose the contract term that best suits your requirements and get back to focusing on your business.
